Interesting Meeting Closed.

THE District Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which was in session at the Christian church in this city three days of this week, closed Wednesday evening. The meeting was interesting throughout. The reports along the various lines of work were highly satisfactory and the progress made in every department was very encouraging.

The evening unions were particularly attractive. That of Monday evening was conducted principally by the children in songs, recitations and wreathing a beautiful portrait of Miss Willard in white flowers. Addresses of welcome were given by Master Douglas Boone, Miss Frances Butler, Rev. E. G. B. Mann and Mrs. Thos. Fisher. The response of the convention was voiced by Mrs. Overstreet, of Lexington. A very pleasing feature of the evening was the singing by a trio of young men from the State College "Y" Union. Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, President of the State W. C. T. U., was present at all the meetings and captivated everyone by her winning ways, charming personality and readiness and willingness to speak on all subjects, thereby instructing many who were not acquainted with the work. On Tuesday evening a large audience greeted Mrs. Helen M. Barker, of Chicago, Treasurer of the National Union, who gave a very forcible address, making an excellent impression upon her hearers, which was further proven on Wednesday evening by the splendid crowd which again greeted her, and to whom she delivered a magnificent address, which in dignity and power we have seldom, if ever, heard equaled.

The choir of the Christian church rendered excellent music, and the unexcelled soloists, Mrs. Sutherland and Mrs. E. C. Long, charmed the visitors by the beauty and sweetness of their singing. Miss Lemon, of Lexington, executed a piano solo on Wednesday evening with rare skill, and Miss Sinclair, of Georgetown, won praise as a violinist. Miss Irene Smiley, of the State College, gave a fine oration in excellent style, while Mrs. Walter Clark and her son, Ray, rendered a duet—the W. C. T. U. version of "My Old Kentucky Home," very effectively.

A Young People's Union, numbering twenty-five young ladies and gentlemen, was organized. Altogether the convention was a success and has left a good impression upon the community.

All the local ministers who were in the city attended the meetings, were introduced and expressed their hearty cooperation in the good work. The President, Miss Annie Miller, of Lexington, is the daughter of Rev. Dr. Chas. Miller, who will be remembered by many citizens as an able minister of the Methodist church. The same officers were re-elected with the exception of Miss Katharine Christian, Corresponding Secretary, who declined re-election, and was succeeded by Mrs. Pearl Smith, of Muir.

The delegates unanimously declared that this was the best convention ever held in the 7th District and were loud in their praises of the hospitable treatment and the many courtesies received while in Paris.

Public Sale!

The undersigned Executor of Thos. A. Hutchcraft, pursuant to an agreed order of the Bourbon Circuit Court, will on SATURDAY, MAY 13TH, 1899,

TESTIMONY FOR DEFENSE.

It Will Probably Be Concluded This Week and the George Murder Case Will Go to the Jury Middle of Next Week.

CANTON, O., April 18.—The hearing of Mrs. George was resumed Monday morning with former Police Sergeant Hasler, who found the gun and was introduced Saturday, on the stand. He was rigidly cross-examined by Mr. Welty. He again denied that he had sought to have a reward offered for the finding of the gun.

The testimony so far has been a recital of the tragedy of October 7, 1898, when George D. Saxton, a wealthy bachelor, was shot as he was entering the residence of Mrs. Althouse for an evening call. Saxton's former relations with Mrs. George have been brought out on the theory that he had quit his attentions to Mrs. George after forming an attachment for Mrs. Althouse, and that the jealousy of the defendant was the cause of the murder. The two star witnesses for the morbid curiosity of the crowds at the courthouse are yet to be heard, and they are the two widows in the case—Mrs. Althouse and Mrs. George.

The state has been wanting Mrs. Althouse, but she has been in hiding and could not be found. It is claimed that the defense will never let up till Mrs. Althouse is brought into court. On the fatal night when Saxton rode to her house on his bicycle, Mrs. Althouse was not at home, and it is said that Saxton was called to the scene of his death by a decoy letter.

There has been some inquiry as to why the Althouse residence was not searched on the night of the tragedy. So far as the public curiosity goes, there is more interest taken in the anticipated appearance of Mrs. Althouse than in Mrs. George taking the witness stand in her own defense. The defense has not outlined its theory or chain of evidence, but it is generally expected that there are several surprises in store for this week, especially if the examination extends into all the alleged wrongs Mrs. George claims to have suffered after deserting her husband for Saxton.

A final effort was made to get the threatening letter before the jury on which Mrs. George was indicted in the United States court for an improper use of the mails. To this end Mayor-elect Robertson, who heard the peace proceeding, Mrs. Finley and Post Office Inspector A. P. Owen were called, but it was to no avail. Then the state rested.

CANTON, O., April 19.—The defense began Tuesday in the trial of Mrs. Anna George, charged with killing George Saxton. There had been rumors of what the defense might be, but nothing was known definitely as to this until the case was stated by the prisoner's attorney.

Mrs. George's attorney said Tuesday that, first of all, they would break down, if they could, some of the testimony presented by the state. Local Weather Observer Chas. F. Stokey will be in court to prove that it rained on October 7 and that if Mrs. George had taken the course claimed by the state her shoes, at least, would have been covered with mud. The state's witnesses have said there was dust on her shoes.

An early attack will also be made on the testimony of Mrs. Eckroate, who said she recognized Mrs. George at the time of the shooting, and that she had been taking morphine for over nine years.

A deposition of Jacob Goldberg, of Detroit, who, with his brother, conducted a dry goods store in the Saxton block, was read by Attorney Welty. Goldberg stated that he and Saxton were talking in the store in 1896 while Mrs. George was there shopping. When she left Saxton said:

"That is a deuced pretty woman. I should like to get acquainted with her."

Depositions were then read from Robert Hunter, lawyer, Sioux City, Ia., who testified that Saxton and Mrs. George had been registered as man and wife at the Boogie hotel in February, 1892; from Chas. Seeley, who deposes that the couple had been guests of his hotel, the Harlan house, in the winter of 1891-92, but in separate rooms. Leslie M. Foote, a clerk in the Harlan house, deposed that he had cashed checks sent by Saxton to Mrs. George and that Mrs. George was often in Saxton's room. Foote's statement that Saxton sent $450 to Mrs. George was confirmed by Oscar Brown, of the Lincoln county national bank, Canton, S. D.

CANTON, O., April 20.—In the trial of Mrs. George Wednesday nothing was developed in the cross examination of Mrs. Huth in regard to the delay of the street car on which Mrs. George went west on the night of the tragedy. Jacob Adams testified to passing a man on Lincoln avenue, between Tuscarawas street and the Althouse residence, shortly before the shooting, and a little further south he passed Saxton and spoke to him.

Adams in cross-examination was somewhat confused on the time of the incidents he related, but partly explained this away by the difference between sun and standard time. He also said he had talked about a dozen times with Andrew Wielandt about what he related in testimony. Wielandt is a private detective.

Former Mayor George Rex testified to observations made Monday showing that a cherry tree interferes with the line of vision between the window where Mrs. Eckroate claims to have seen the shooting and the Althouse steps. E. D. Bomberger testified to the same observations and to the same effect.

Frank Hildenbrandt said he was the first to reach Saxton's body. He heard a groan and found the body after striking a match. He said the night was dark and misty. An electric light shed light on the upper part of the steps but none on the body. He said people could not be recognized in the darkness on that night.

Upton Shutz testified to the darkness of the night, that foliage of trees was heavy and that burdock burrs were numerous along a vacant lot in West Tuscarawas street.

George Swett gave similar testimony. At noon Mr. Welty said the case would probably go to the jury by the middle of next week. He said the defense would probably conclude this week. Former Constable Jackman was further examined after noon. He told of replenishing goods in Saxton's block claimed by Mrs. George and Saxton's objection to her going into the room to identify the goods.

COUNTERFEITERS CAUGHT.

The Most Important Capture in the History of the Secret Service Made in Philadelphia and Lancaster, Pa.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Probably the most important capture in the history of the secret service was made Tuesday in Philadelphia by Chief John E. Wilkie and his agents when they arrested Arthur Taylor and Baldwin S. Bredell, the makers of the famous counterfeit "Monroe head" one hundred dollar silver certificates.

These arrests were followed Wednesday by the capture in Lancaster, Pa., of William M. Jacobs and William L. Kendig, two prominent cigar manufacturers, and James Burns, who was in Jacobs' employ. There were also captured the original plate from which the silver certificates were printed; a new $100 counterfeit plate and new $50 plate, and also three sets of plates for the printing of counterfeit revenue stamps, rolls, other paraphernalia and about five tons of paper and a large amount of counterfeit stamps. The "Monroe head" plate and also the stamp plates and the other materials were found in Lancaster where the printing was done.

NOT LOST TO FATHERLAND.

Press of Berlin Halls With Joy the Recent Demonstration Upon the Part of the German Societies of Chicago.

BERLIN, April 20.—The recent demonstration upon the part of the German societies of Chicago, in condemnation of any attempt to cause trouble between the United States and Germany, has been hailed with great satisfaction by the newspapers here. The semi-official Post, greeting "such evidence of German sentiment joyfully" expressed the belief that it proves the German emigrants who are finding homes in the new world are "not lost to the fatherland, but retain in their hearts a fidelity which is of greater worth than assurances of national sentiment on festive occasions but which fail when needed."

The Post then expresses the hope that the movement will spread to the eastern states "leading to a courageous union of all German Americans."

Burglar Shoots His Pal.

NEW YORK, April 20.—In trying to shoot a policeman, early Wednesday, a burglar shot his partner in the neck, inflicting a wound that is likely to prove fatal. The wounded man is Charles Thom, 24 years of age, who lived with his parents, respectable people, in a tenement over the store which he and the other burglar were trying to rob when discovered by a policeman. The man who did the shooting escaped, and Thom professes not to know who he is.

Congressman Reed Will Resign.

NEW YORK, April 20.—It is announced here that Speaker Thomas B. Reed has accepted the offer to become a member of the law firm of Simpson, Thacher & Barnum, in this city. It is understood that Mr. Reed will resign his seat in congress and remove to New York. The statement has been made that Mr. Reed is guaranteed a yearly income of $50,000. Before settling down here Mr. Reed will make a protracted visit to Europe.

Four Hundred Houses Burned.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The secretary of state Wednesday received a telegram from Consul Ayne, at Pointe Pitre, Guadeloupe, W. I., saying that fires, alleged to be incendiary, started at midnight of the 18th instant and destroyed 16 squares in the vicinity of the American consulate. He says that 400 houses were consumed, and 31 lives were lost.

Murdered His Child.

CHICAGO, April 20.—After killing his 5-year-old son Wednesday by cutting his throat with a butcher knife, Emil Eykstra jumped on a horse and fled from his home in South Holland. He was pursued by an excited crowd, but escaped. The murderer is believed to be insane.

An Aged Man Terribly Beaten.

SOUTH CHARLESTON, O., April 20.—Samuel Atchison, an aged man, was attacked by four unknown men and terribly beaten. He was found four miles from his home in a log cabin. Three of his ribs were broken. There is no known cause for the assault.

AMERICAN PROTECTORATE.

Gen. Gomez Favors This Action Until the People of Cuba Can Establish a Stable Government.

HAVANA, April 20.—Gen. Maximo Gomez has determined to announce to the people of Cuba his support of an American protectorate until such time as a stable, independent government may be founded.

To a correspondent Gen. Gomez made it known that he intends to take this step after consulting the views of the leading men in his following. He is content to concur with Americans until the island is pacified, the rural police organized, the Cuban soldier at work and insular reconstruction far advanced. No definite period for the occupation by the Americans will be mentioned but the manifesto will favor a cessation of the agitation for the immediate withdrawal of the United States troops.

The declaration will be so worded as to retain the support of those who desire independence, yet will illustrate the necessity of American assistance. Gov. Gen. Brooke is aware of the purposes of Gomez and has talked with him about them. The announcement will include a recital of the personal views of the Cuban commander-in-chief regarding the $3,000,000. On this point he will say that he favors buying plantations and factories in which soldiers could hold stock, drawing wages and dividends, but as the soldiers need clothes and shoes and something to tide over immediate necessities, the money should be paid out now. He thinks the rural police should be one body, so that detachments living in one part of the island might be sent on emergency into districts where they would not be affected by local influences.

Gen. Alejandro Rodriguez, as the new chief of police, will have command of a larger force than he ever had before—900 men in Havana and 300 rural. He also possesses the power to dismiss or appoint, unrestrained by statutes or boards, and can make the force personally devoted to himself.

The Cuban Gen. Delgado, who, with four bands of Cubans, has been out in search of bandits since Sunday, has telegraphed Gen. Gomez and Gen. Lee that he has found a band and is in hot pursuit of them. Gen. Lee sent a company of the 7th cavalry, under Capt. Sickle, to join them.

The contract for the electric lighting of Havana has been given to Messrs. Dubois and Boulanger, who will construct an $800,000 plant.

At Cienfuegos the police arrested an American soldier. His companions attempted to rescue him which brought more police and soldiers to the scene and provoked a general fight. Several shots were fired but only one Chinaman was hurt. A bullet passed through his legs. The soldier who had been arrested escaped and ran into the barracks. The police endeavored to follow, but the sentinel refused them admittance.

A NOVEL INSURANCE IDEA.

A Scheme to Insure Against Unavoidable Loss of Employment is Being Organized in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—A novel idea in insurance, conceived by George C. Platt, of this city, is about to be put to a practical test. The proposed insurance is against unavoidable loss of employment, the policy holder being paid three-quarters the amount of his salary for six months, should that time be required in which to find a new position. In case the premium holder, having lost his place, should be offered one on trial at a less amount than his former salary, the difference will be made up by the company.

That the scheme is not a visionary one is shown by the fact that among the stockholders of the new company are some of the most prominent citizens of the state, including P. N. Lillich, Louis Sless, jr., M. H. Hecht, E. W. Van Sycklen, Wm. L. Gerstle, Charles R. Bishop, C. H. Crocker and N. D. Ridout. The company has the authorization of the state insurance commissioner to do business in California.

MRS. ADAMS POISONING CASE.

Judgment Against Molineux Dismissed—Order Provides for Submission of the Case to the Grand Jury.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The indictment charging Roland B. Molineux with the murder of Mrs. Kate J. Adams, was Wednesday formally dismissed by Justice Pardon C. Williams in the supreme court. The order provides for the submission of the case again to the grand jury, but does not provide for the discharge of Molineux from prison. Barlow S. Weeks, counsel for Molineux, declined to say whether he would apply for a writ of habeas corpus in order to have the legality of Molineux's detention settled.

Combination of Glass Tableware Manufacturers.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 20.—Another attempt is being made to form a combination of glass tableware manufacturers. At a meeting Wednesday all but two factories were represented. The promoters are hopeful of success.

Shot Off His Head.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 20.—Edward Hensel, prospector, shot off the top of his head in Atlin April 14. His mind was deranged, as the result of hardships. Hensel lived in Sioux City, Ia.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHING.

Sounder Fixed at St. Marys Academy Responded to Key Pressure at Notre Dame One and a Half Miles.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., April 20.—Prof. Green used the Marconi system with greater success Wednesday than in any previous trials. Wednesday afternoon he telegraphed one and one-half miles without the use of wires. This was the fifth day of the experiments and when the sounder, fixed at Marys academy, responded to the pressure of the key at Notre Dame, Prof. Green had done as much as he expected and more than he had promised.

As a preparation for the crucial test of Wednesday afternoon Prof. Green conducted an experiment over three-quarters of a mile Wednesday morning. He placed his stations at Science hall and the Noviate, and over the intervening distance the signals were transmitted without an error. Wednesday he moved the receiving station to St. Marys academy and placed the sending instruments at the foot of the university flagstaff, to the top of this staff, which is 125 feet high, he swung a rack containing the metal sphere and connected it with his sending apparatus. One mile and a half on the clock tower of St. Marys academy was a duplicate metal sphere connected with a coherer and sounder.

At 2:30 an expert telegrapher pressed the key at the sending station, and with the velocity of light waves the impulses reached the distant coherer. Here the little hammer clattered out its signals as clearly as if the sender were but a yard and a half instead of a mile and a half away. The waves traversed a country broken by trees and buildings, many of which were higher than the vocal wire at the receiving station.

BLOODY HIGHBINDER FIGHT.

As a Result Three Mongolians Are Dead in China Town, Two Are at the Hospital and Nine in Jail.

FRESNO, Cal., April 20.—A bloody highbinder war that has been expected for some days broke out in Chinatown early Wednesday, and as a result three Mongolians occupy slabs in the morgue, two more are at the county hospital mortally wounded, and nine are behind the bars in the county jail.

The officers have anticipated an outbreak for some time, as it was known that large numbers of hatchet men had arrived here from San Francisco, but so cunning were their plans that not an officer was close enough to witness the opening of the battle.

The Chinese had decoyed the policemen on duty in that district to various quarters remote from the scene of their intended onslaught.

Upon hearing the first shot Policeman Rapelji, who was a block away, ran to the alley north of Tulare street, between F and G, where he saw two Chinese pumping lead into the body of a third Chinese who lay at their feet. Further up the alley were at least a dozen Chinamen, running about and blazing away at each other.

As Rapelji ran up the alley a Chinaman ran past him pursued by a highbinder. The fugitive made for a doorway but was dropped on the steps by a bullet from the highbinder's gun which struck him in the head, killing him instantly. Rapelji captured the murderer, who gave his name as Wong Duck.

Policeman Morss, who was running to the scene of the shooting, saw a highbinder run up to a Chinaman named Chin Chi, who was standing in a doorway and deliberately fire five shots at him, killing him instantly.

The murderer then started to run, whereupon Morss ordered him to stop, but instead the highbinder threw his gun at Morss' head. As he continued to run Morss fired, the ball penetrating the Chinaman's back, and he is now at the hospital not expected to live.

SHOT TO DEATH IN HIS CELL.

A. M. Larue, Alleged Murderer of John Young, Killed by a Mob in Chester County, Tenn., Jail.

JACKSON, TENN., April 20.—A masked mob of 40 men rode up to the Chester county jail Tuesday, forced their way in, and going to the cell of A. M. Larue, placed a rope around the prisoner's neck. He resisted and the mob leaders fired several bullets into his body. Believing him dead, they started to leave the jail, but Larue's groans attracted them and they returned. After shooting him again and beating him mercilessly, the mob dispersed. Larue died after making a statement accusing David Smith and Luke Young of being the leaders. They will be arrested. Larue had killed John Young as the result of a feud.

Russian Students Riot.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 20.—Serious student riots have occurred at the University of Kiev, the rioters smashing the windows of houses and shops with stones. The troops were called out and dispersed the mob, injuring several persons and arresting 400 of those who took part in the disorders.

Oldest Telegrapher Dead.

HALLOWELL, Me., April 20.—Col. D. P. Livermore, the oldest telegrapher in the country, died Wednesday. He was 84 years old.

HIS OLD YELLOW ALMANAC.

I left the farm when mother died, and changed my place of dwellin' To daughter Susie's stylish house, right in the city street, And there was them, before I came, that sort of scared me tellin' How I would find the town-folks' ways so difficult to meet.

They said I'd have no comfort in the rustlin' fixed-up throng, And I'd have to wear stiff collars every weekday right along. I find I take to city ways just like a duck to water. I like the racket and the noise, and never tire of shows; And there's no end of comfort in the mansion of my daughter, And everything is right at hand, and money freely flows; And hired help is all about, just listen' for my call, But I miss the yellow almanac off my kitchen wall.

The house is full of calendars from attic to the cellar; They're painted in all colors, and are fancy-like to see. But just this particular I'm not a modern feller. And the yellow-covered almanac is good enough for me: I'm used to it, I've seen it round from boyhood to old age, And I rather like the jokin' at the bottom of each page.

I like the way the "S" stood out to show the week's beginnin' (In these new-fangled calendars the days seemed sort of mixed), And the man upon the cover, though he wasn't exactly winnin' With lungs and liver all exposed, still showing how we are fixed; And the letters, credentials that was writ to Mr. Ayer, I've often, on a rainy day, found readin' very fair.

I tried to find one recently; there wa'n't one in the city. They toted out great calendars in every sort of style. I looked at 'em in cold disdain, and answered 'em in pity: "I'd rather have my almanac than all that costly pile." And, though I take to city life, I'm lonesome, after all, For that old yellow almanac upon my kitchen wall. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in the Century.

JOHN'S GOOD IDEA.

He Thought Angel Food Should Have the Right Kind of Brand on It.

A woman whose husband was physician for the California state prison recently had in her kitchen one of the convicts from the prison, a Chinaman, serving a short sentence for theft, but whose subsequent good behavior had made for him many friends among the government officials. John was a good cook and more than cleanly, so the doctor's wife hailed him with delight and mourned greatly when the days were busy and John was not allowed beyond the prison walls. John, when in the world, had heard a good deal about the "Sunday school" life of his fellow celestial and since his confinement had thought much on the subject.

The doctor was very proud of John's cooking and one day invited a few friends in for dinner. John was in his element and prepared an elaborate meal. Among the many delicacies for dessert ordered by the doctor's wife was an angel cake. John's chief culinary success. Great was the consternation and surprise of the hostess and the amusement of the guests when John bobbed into the room carrying a huge, snowy, uncut angel cake, bearing across the top in huge red letters the word "Heaven."

John's dinner was a "howling" success.

ONE reason Mrs. Pinkham's treatment helps women so promptly is that they have confidence in her.

Through some of the many thousands of Mrs. Pinkham's friends an ailing woman will be led to write to Mrs. Pinkham at her home in Lynn, Mass., and will tell her symptoms. The reply, made without charge of any kind, will bear such evidence of knowledge of the trouble that belief in her advice at once inspires hope.

This of itself is a great help. Then the knowledge that women only see the letters asking for advice and women only assist Mrs. Pinkham in replying makes it easy to be explicit about the little things that define the disease.

MRS. ELIZA THOMAS, of 634 Pine St., Easton, Pa., writes: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I doctored with two of the best doctors in the city for two years and had no relief until I began the use of your remedies. My trouble was ulceration of the womb. I suffered something terrible, could not sleep nights and thought sometimes that death would be such a relief. To-day I am a well woman, able to do my own work, and have not a pain. I used four bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and three packages of Sanative Wash and cannot thank you enough for the good it did me."

MRS. M. STODDARD, Box 268, Springfield, Minn., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—For about four years I was a great sufferer from female troubles. I had backache all of the time, no appetite, pains in stomach, fainting spells, was weak and my system was completely run down. I also had falling of womb so bad that I could scarcely walk across the floor. After taking two bottles of your Vegetable Compound and one box of Lozengers, can say I am cured."

DUCKS OR STOCKS?

An Investment That Pays Better Than Dabbling in Stocks on Tips.

A circular sent out by a firm of tipsters says: "It is now over three years since we first addressed you about our stock operations. During that time had you invested $100 at the beginning and compounded your profits, your $100 would now be nearly $4,775. Is there any business that will pay you better than $4,775 profits on $100 capital in three years?" A copy of the circular fell into the hands of a man who made this rejoinder:

"The answer is, yes—ducks, tame, puddle, muscovy, Pekin, or any other breed. A little girl had 15 cents with which she bought a sitting of duck eggs. She 'borrowed' brooding chicken hen from her mother, and all the eggs were hatched out. Her profits for the first six months were $8, and she kept three hens and a drake for the next six months' operations. It is fair to presume that her profits will be at least $8 for each six months; one year $16; three years, $48. Divide $48 by her 15 cents and the quotient will be 320—that is, each of her 15 cents will produce 320 cents, or $1 or 100 cents the profit will be 32,000 cents, or $320; on $100 capital the profit would be $32,000, against the $4,775. Verily a good investment is in duck eggs."

Future Hardships.

"What do you think of this wireless telegraphy?" "I think it's one of the worst things that ever happened. It's an imposition, that's what it is. Pretty soon it'll be so that the man who goes into the woods 19 miles from the nearest postoffice for the purpose of getting away from his business may receive a message at any moment calling him home to attend to something that, in case it had gone wrong in his absence, he could have blamed somebody else for."—Chicago Evening News.

CONFIDENCE HELPS TO CURE

TOWARD SUNSET.

O come, my love, and walk with me
Through the orchard's leafy ways,
And hear the song of bird and bee
We heard in other days.
When hearts were warm and kind,
And the narrowest path our feet could find
Was wide enough for two.

Once more we'll keep a loving tryst
Beneath the bending boughs,
Where first your maiden lips were kissed,
And first we breathed our vows.
There where with beating heart you came
To greet me at the bars,
And, waiting, I would speak your name,
And spell it in the stars.

Time sprinkles frost upon our heads,
But love's eternal youth
Dwells in each happy breast and sheds
The beauty born of truth.
And heart to heart and lip to lip
We'll breathe our vows divine,
Till in the last long sleep you slip
Your loving hand in mine.

SYNOPSIS.

Master Ardick, just reached his majority and thrown upon his own resources, after stating his case to one Houthwick, a ship-master, is shipped as second mate on the Industry, bound for Havana. Mr. Tym, the supercargo, desecrates a sail. The strange vessel gives chase, but is disabled by the Industry's guns. In the fray one of the crew is killed and Houthwick is seen to fall. The captain is found to be dead, but the Industry is little damaged. Sellinger, first mate, takes charge and puts into Sidmouth to secure a new mate. Several days later, when well out to sea, an English merchant-man is met, whose captain has a letter addressed to Jeremiah Hope, at Havana. The crew of the vessel tell strange tales of the buccaner Morgan, who is sailing under the king's commission to take Panama. One night a little later, the English vessel having proceeded on her course, a bit of paper is slipped into Ardick's hand by one of the sailors. This is found to be a warning of a mutiny plot headed by Pradey, the nevwate. Ardick consults Mr. Tym. They resolve to secure the mate, but Pradey, eavesdropping in the cabin, makes through the door and arouses the crew. Capt. Sellinger joins Ardick and Tym. The crew break through the now barricaded door, but are forced to retire, having lost seven of their number. Finding themselves now too short-handed to manage the boat, Pradey decides to scuttle and desert the vessel, taking his men off in the only available boat. The captain, supercargo and second mate soon discover their plight, but hastily constructing a raft get away just before their vessel sinks.

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE GREAT STRAIT WE FOUND OURSELVES IN, AND HOW THAT SUTLEROGUE, THE MATE, SEEMED STILL TO TRIUMPH.

By this time some showing of what the captain had prophesied as to a change of weather began to appear. The sun was now pretty high, but it did not strike down with its usual heat, a thin, whitish, almost imperceptible haze floating between, and presently I noticed that the northern sea line was a little darkened, so that the horizon itself was not so sharply cut as it had been. The air, too, had a changed feeling—a little damper, as I might say, and with more of the ocean smell in it. I now surmised that we were to catch a bit of a blow, though not a hurricane, and that the wind would presently shift to the north. What sort of business we could make of it Heaven only knew, and it was with no little stirring of apprehension that I finally gave over my studying and directed a more general look around. The long boat was still traveling southwest, and no other sail was to be seen. There was the same easy sea, not so deeply blue as before the thin veil came over the sun, but raising scarcely a crest, and swinging and sinking in diminishing water hills and valleys. The raft climbed up and slid down in the fashion that such a contrivance must, dashing a bit of spray over us now and then, but yet making some headway, and in this sort we continued for perhaps two hours. By that time we had all thought it best to get into our oilskins. Mr. Tym likewise discarding his wig, and in lieu of it drawing on a little knit cap, like a nightcap, and when at last it was quite a bit past noon I got out and served dinner. Of course, it had to be eaten cold, but we added a little brandy, and it relished well, and after this nothing happened till early night.

The wind had swung a little into the north, giving token of what was to be expected, and the sea was coming up a bit, but as yet had made no heads of dangerous size. The sun was setting red, but with a topping of gray clouds, and the air was growing chilly, though it could not yet be called cold. I swept the sea line once more for a sail, but without success, whereupon, feeling weary and a bit discouraged, I flung myself down and drew a piece of canvas over me. I heard Mr. Tym stir about a little—I say heard, for I had covered my head for the moment—and presently knew that he had gone aft to relieve the captain at the helm. I had a strange sort of quiet, secure feeling come over me, then, in a way as though I had no further care of this business and scarce needed to feel fear, and in a moment I was lapsing from that into a drowse. I was called back to myself by a loud tone of talking, and on throwing back the canvas found Mr. Tym and the captain on their feet and looking with great seeming of eagerness toward some point in the western seaboard. I flung the canvas wholly from me and sprang up.

The sea had darkened even in the few moments I had been under the canvas, and only a pale, lemon-colored streak in the west remained of the sunset. The raft canted and made its downward slide just as I got steadiness of my legs, and I could only whisk my eye, so to speak, over the shoulder of the crest, before we had dropped into the duskiness of the hollow. But in that glimpse I saw what it was that my companions had discovered. Against the yellow western band stood out a black dot, which could only be a sail!

My heart gave a great jump, and I could have shouted, but in the end I contented myself with saying two or three times profoundly: "Thank God!" and with that stood quietly on my straddled legs, waiting for the next rise of the raft. My companions had given over their talking, and seemed to be holding themselves in patience, as I was, only that, I think, Mr. Tym spoke to me as I stood about for my balance, and so drew his notice. The raft swung to the top of the crest, and as it tipped for the next slide we all looked eagerly for the black dot. There it was, as distinct as ever, and beyond any manner of doubt the narrow-wise view of a ship! We cried out in a kind of cheer, and I then fell to asking with eagerness how long she had been in sight.

"I raised her but a moment since," answered the captain. "She showed first as you see her, and must therefore be bows-on. But, pray you, pass me my glass, and I will see what further can be made of her."

I hastened to fetch his glass from his box of instruments, and when the next lift of the raft was he brought it to bear.

Mr. Tym and I hung on his words, for it was an anxious moment, and presently felt a vast relief when he broke out:

"Yes, a large ship, and bows-on. She can scarce be above four or five miles away, and so she does not change her course should fetch up to us within an hour!"

I could not restrain a step or two of a sailor's shuffle at this, so great was my delight, and Mr. Tym smiled.

"Let us have down the sail," pursued the captain, "for now it does us no good, and puts us to the labor of steering."

I perceived with this that the wind had indeed hauled much to the north, and was therefore driving us continually to leeward. I jumped to the sail and shut it up to the mast and whipped the sheet round it. By this time quite sharp airs were blowing, and the heads of the seas had come up in a sort to fling the spray in small showers over us. We did not much heed this, and drew together in the middle of the raft, and while we kept an eye out for the ship, continued our discourse.

"I mistrust she is a Spaniard," said the captain. "She may well come from the Florida coast."

"I wish you might be wrong," said I, "for the Spanish have no love for us at this time. There has been too much doing by the buccaners."

"Yet we could speak them fair," said Mr. Tym, "and if pushed to it compound with them in some small manner of ransom. I could raise a sum, given a little time."

"Marry," said I, quite with a light heart, for the prospect of escape had flown like wine into my head, "I am for them, ransom or no ransom. Better a living slave than a dead sailor."

We continued to use the glass by turns and to discuss the thing, till at last we had raised the ship to her hull. She was standing fairly toward us, all her sails, including topgallant sails, spread, and looked to be a large, light-floating craft.

"She has bow ports," said the captain, who had the glass, "though they are scarce visible, as she is painted. Nay, but we must lose no more time, let her be what she may. Take a piece of this canvas, Master Ardick, and display it from the mast."

I speedily had a distress flag flying. "She sees us!" cried Mr. Tym, who had the glass. "There is a line of heads along the forward bulwarks," he went on, "and a fellow with a telescope is climbing the fore rigging."

She came along fast, her yards all but square, and studding sails hung out aloft. Her tall bows sent up a great boiling of white, which sheared smoothly right and left as she came nearer, though with many plumes of spray, and in this gallant style she stormed down till, at last, being but a gunshot off, she clewed up some sail, put down her helm, and with her long broadside swung around, came drifting down upon us.

A man in dark attire, with a trumpet in his hand, climbed a few feet up the main rigging.

"Now we shall know what nation she is," said Capt. Sellinger; "but from that steeple of a poop and the poor awkward ordering of those yards she should be Spanish."

So, indeed, it seemed to prove. The man presently hailed, and the speech was Spanish.

"Board ahoy!" "Board the ship!" bellowed back the captain. "Nay, but I can go no further," he said, with a laugh. "I have scarce any Spanish. Do you finish the business."

He addressed me, and I sprang up and stood in his room. The ship had rapidly drifted down and was already within a hundred or a hundred and fifty yards. The man in the rigging shouted: "If you would board us, take to your oars. Be speedy, or you will fall short."

CHAPTER VIII.

OF OUR RECEPTION ON THE SPANISH SHIP.

I saw that this was the case, and likewise feared that he might be of that cruel or indifferent sort that would leave us in the lurch if we failed. Wherefore I let fall the talk with him and hurriedly told the others how the matter stood. The ship was not dead to windward, but in the course she was now traveling stood to pass us about 40 or 50 yards to the south, and it was to cover this gap that we must row. We fell to it, though it was but a poor piece of work, the raft being so clumsy, and at last drew pretty nigh the ship's bow. It was rising and falling at great heights above us, but a seaman appeared on the boltspit, and at the right moment cast us a line. I caught it and made it fast, and we quickly warped as near as we dared to the lofty side. The bulwark above us was now black with heads, and a dark fellow in a kind of Dutch rig raised himself on the rail, and from there directed us how to proceed. The fore chains were too nearly under the towering house of a foredeck to serve our turn, and the captain seemed too indifferent to put over a ladder, wherefore we were presently drawn along till we were near amidships, where, indeed, we might make shift to scramble up. This we did, first tying on our backs such articles of value as we cared to preserve, and when we were over the side the raft was cast adrift. We then put down our burdens, and with no little interest and anxiety fetched a look about us.

I may have been a bit confused for a moment, for I find I got nothing that sticks in my memory in that first glance. But presently I bring back a crowded deck, most of the faces being dark, and some persons in handsome attire standing a little way from the companion, and for general surroundings a short, flush waist of the ship, poop and foredeck like little castles, and overhead a great but not overneat and shipmanlike spread of spars and sails. Immediately a tall, dark man in rough brown clothes, a wide, flapping hat and Flemish boots pushed out of the press, and I recognized the person who had held the trumpet.

"If you please, Señor Captain," said I, stepping to the front and touching my hat, "we three are escaped from the English ship Industry, which was scuttled and sunk." From here I went on and gave him the other chief outlines of our story. He listened without comment, and when I had finished made a sign to one of his officers and ordered the ship put upon her course. He then turned back to us, and from his cold and rather stern expression I was not expecting a very agreeable or hospitable answer, when there was some stir in the crowd, and those in front stepping aside a tall and stately looking gentleman came deliberately forward. He was, as one would guess, about five-and-fifty years of age, and was comely in the face, but thin, though sturdy and upright in figure. His dress was uncommonly rich, and was the most showy and striking I had seen up to that time.

I bowed low, somewhat impressed by his elegance, and waited with an air of deference for him to speak. I doubted not he was some rich grandee, and very likely the owner of the ship and cargo. He looked at me coldly, yet with some curiosity, and after a brief glance at my companion, said in choice Spanish: "Who are you, señor, and how did you come upon the raft?"

I repeated what I had told the captain, though with some enlargement. As I proceeded I saw his brow darken, especially at the mention that we were English.

"I grieve, señor, to find that you and your friends belong to that nation of heretics and robbers," he said in a severe voice. "Pray, upon what business was your ship, and what was she doing in these waters?"

I perceived the dangerous thing that was in his mind, and suffered no delay in answering.

"Why, your lordship," I replied (I clapped this title to him at a venture), "our ship was a peaceful merchant-man, and her business was to convey a cargo of English cloths and small wares to Havana, and fetch sugar, spices and the like thither. Our captain can give you more of this matter."

"And where, think you, went your escaping mutineers?" he inquired, without pause.

This disconcerted me a bit, but I felt it best to out with the truth. "To join that scoundrel Morgan, if our guess is not greatly at fault," I let go boldly.

He smiled in a grim fashion. "Aye, señor, such was my thought of the matter. They have gone to join that child of perdition, doubtless, and some good Spanish blood may be shed in consequence. What think you," he went on, looking at me fixedly, "shall I not be doing my sovereign and the church a service if I endeavor to discharge a small measure of this debt?"

I began to think that we had fallen out of the frying pan into the fire, for I was at no loss to guess what he meant. Nevertheless I was resolved not to quail, and, indeed, it was possible he might be only trying me. I collected myself, therefore, and answered him.

"A debt, your lordship, should be paid by the debtor, and not by him who has no part in it. The Spanish blood you speak of was not shed by me or by my comrades. We abhor piracy and every such lawless doing."

The Hidalgo nodded, but I could not see that I had produced any measurable impression on him. It was an anxious moment, and I discerned that my companions had detected something amiss and come closer, though I could not than give heed to them. "Well, señor," he replied, at last, "there is reason in what you say, and

I am not disposed to deal with you harshly. Nevertheless—here his look hardened again, and my spirits sank—"I cannot forget that you are Englishmen. If you yourselves have done my countrymen no harm, neither had the Spaniards of Puerto Rico and Maracaibo done the English harm. Your lives are safe, but you have forfeited your liberty, and on your arrival at Panama will be sold as slaves. You may go forward for the present and serve with the crew."

He nodded to signify that he had concluded, and, with the same stately precision as at first, passed in among the crowd and made his way out of sight. I was in a measure dumfounded, and stood where he had left me, trying to grasp the full purport of what had befallen. Cast into slavery, and by the people of a Christian nation! What worse would it have been had we fallen among the heathen Algerines? I was aroused from this overwhelmed state by the voice of Mr. Tym, and, turning about, acquainted both him and the captain with what had passed.

"Slaves to the dons, is it?" said Sellinger, when I had finished. "A middling hard part to steer into, after all that has befallen us! The greasy lobscourers! I hope we shall manage to put a trick or two upon them before we are done. To think of such tallow-heads making slaves of free-born Englishmen!"

We had time for only a few words further, for soon one of the officers—the boatswain, as I presently discovered—came along and ordered us to pick up our things and follow him to the forecabin. This we accordingly did I carrying the supercargo's box, to show him that much respect, though he tried to dissuade me. On the way I took some thought of the people about me, not having till now observed them with particularity, and found that most, save a few in armor, who seemed to be professional soldiers, belonged to the ship's company, the passengers not numbering above a score. Of these the greater part were dressed in a rather rich sort, though not comparable to the don, and about one-fourth were females.

He Draws the Line at His Wife.

You may ask a Chinese friend about his mule or donkey, if there be occasion, but at your peril you mention his wife or daughter. A newly arrived American minister discomfited the whole Yamen by forgetting that such a trifling incident as a friend having a wife must not be referred to in polite society. With the best intentions the minister remarked that "the amicable relations between the United States and China ought to be strengthened by the fact that a distinguished Chinese officer had married a pretty Yankee girl." Besides the head of the department, Prince Kung, six gray-headed colleagues were present. The remark, not noticed the first time, was repeated. Solemn silence ensued, broken at last by the prince's remark: "It is fearfully hot to-day."—London Telegraph.

Spurgeon's Way.

While Spurgeon was still a boy preacher he was warned about a certain virago, and told that she intended to give him a tongue-lashing. "All right," he replied, "but that's a game at which two can play." Not long after, as he passed her gate one morning, she assailed him with a flood of billingsgate. He smiled and said: "Yes, thank you, I am quite well; I hope you are the same." Then came another burst of vituperation, pitched in a still higher key, to which he replied, still smiling: "Yes, it does look rather as if it is going to rain; I think I had better be getting on!" "Bless the man," she exclaimed, "he's as deaf as a post; what's the use of storming at him?" And so her ravings ceased, and were never again attempted.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

NUPTIAL KNOTS.

Engagements, Announcements And solemnizations Of The Marriage Vows.

Miss Carrie Tutt, a handsome young woman of Danville, was married Monday to Wm. Hubbard, a cripple from St. Louis, who was selling songs in Danville. It was a case of love at first sight.

Invitations are out announcing the marriage of Wallace Armstrong McKay, of Louisville, and Miss Margaret Strother Kennady, of Elizabethtown. The marriage will occur at the Baptist Church at Elizabethtown next Wednesday.

CLAY-WOODFORD.

The nuptials of Mr. Thomas Henry Clay, Jr., and Miss Besse Woodford, which united two of the leading families of Bourbon and two prominent young society people of Paris, were celebrated Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the bride.

Daylight was excluded from the house and the rooms were illuminated by gas lights. The wedding march was played by Saxton's orchestra and the beautiful ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. E. H. Rutherford. The bride and groom stood in front of a large mirror which was almost covered with Easter lilies. There were no attendants.

The bride, who is the only daughter of Mr. Buckner Woodford, Cashier of the Bourbon Bank, was gowning in an exquisite dress of white Duchess satin, trimmed with Duchess lace and chiffon. The dress was made en train, with long sleeves and high neck, and showed the brunette beauty of the bride to splendid advantage. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

Mr. Clay, the groom, is the youngest son of Mr. Thomas Henry Clay, the wealthy farmer and land owner of near this city, and is a splendid young man who possesses many excellent qualities. The wedding guests included a large number of relatives and about a dozen friends.

The house was decorated with palms and flowers—the parlor with Easter lilies, the stairway with smilax and American Beauties, and the dining room with Mermets—arranged by Bell, of Lexington.

After the ceremony a luncheon prepared by Mrs. W. A. Johnson was served. Seated at the bride's table were Misses Elizabeth Woodford, Elizabeth Spears, Annie Louise Clay, Elizabeth Hazelrigg (Frankfort), Nanette Clay, Messrs. George Williams Clay, Sam Clay, John Woodford, Quincy Ward and Sam Woodford, all in full evening dress.

The wedding presents were very numerous and elegant, including about twenty pieces of cut glass, many gold and silver gifts and handsome furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay left on the 3:40 L. & N. train for a wedding trip to Washington, New York and other Eastern points.

GOSSIPY PARAGRAPHS.

Theatrical And Otherwise—Remarks In The Forum.

"THE COONTOWN 400." Monday's Enquirer said that "The Coontown 400," which comes to the Paris opera house Tuesday night, drew two large audiences to Heuck's theatre. Sunday, and gave a pleasing performance. The play has no plot but it furnished opportunities for ragtime songs, buck and wing dancing and other amusing things. The company "is playing this week at Heuck's in Cincinnati. The sale of seats will begin Monday at Brook's drug store.

"CYRANO DE BERGERAC." On Tuesday May the 9th, Mr. Richard Mansfield comes to the Lexington Opera House, presenting his grand production of "Cyrano de Bergerac." The sale of seats for this engagement begins Tuesday morning May the 2d at nine o'clock at the Opera House.

There are in Mr. Mansfield's company playing "Cyrano de Bergerac" 134 actors and many others who contribute in an executive or mechanical way to the performance. Mr. Mansfield travels in his private car. The paraphernalia includes all the drops, wings, borders and platforms for the five immense settings in "Cyrano," 100 crates of properties, and furniture and over 100 trunks belonging to the members of the company and containing their personal and stage wardrobe. To transport to the theater and mount the many carloads of all this will require the constant labor of a big corps of workmen till the curtain rises.

The prices will be lower floor $3, balcony $2, gallery $1.

THE OPERA "POLLY." A rare treat is in store for the music-loving public at an early date. Lexington Lodge No. 89, B. P. O. Every Month there are thousands of women who nearly suffer death from irregular menses. Sometimes the "period" comes too often—sometimes not often enough—sometimes the flow is too scant, and again it is too profuse. Each symptom shows that Nature needs help, and that there is trouble in the organs concerned. Be careful when in any of the above conditions. Don't take any and every nostrum advertised to cure female troubles.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR

is the one safe and sure medicine for irregular or painful menstruation. It cures all the ailments that are caused by irregularity, such as leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, nervousness, pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides, hips and limbs. By regulating the menses so that they occur every twenty-eighth day, all those aches disappear together. Just before your time comes, get a bottle and see how much good it will do you. Druggists sell it at $1.

duced to give a performance in Paris. These annual benefits by the Lexington Elks are made social events and are all gotten up and conducted by Prof. A. C. ("Gus") Gutzeit, a former Parisian, and a highly talented musician, which is a positive guarantee of their success. The opera now in course of rehearsal is bright, tuneful and catchy and will be handsomely costumed and staged and accompanied by a full orchestra. Both the cast and chorus are composed of the best vocal talent—male and female—obtainable. The friendship between Lexington and Paris lodges of Elks is very strong, and the local members of this great order will no doubt put forth their best efforts in behalf of their Lexington brothers.

Farmer Fahnestock thinks he owns the stock he is so proud of. But as a matter of fact the stock owns him. He is the humble servant of horse, cow and pig. He looks after them better than he looks after himself, and feeds them before he feeds himself. That is why it so often happens that just about the time that Farmer Fahnestock has reached the place where he can take things easy, he breaks down.

No class of people have been more quickly appreciative of the tonic properties of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery than farmers and stock raisers. They have found it prevents as well as cures disease. It keeps the stomach in healthy operation, stimulates the organs of digestion and nutrition and increases the secretions of the blood-making glands. The use of "Golden Medical Discovery" at seasons when the strain of work is greatest, keeps the system in perfect working order and prevents the breakdown which comes from over drafts on the strength.

"I used ten bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and several vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' a year ago this spring, and have had no trouble with indigestion since," writes Mr. W. T. Thompson, of Townsend, Broadwater Co., Montana. "Words fail to tell how thankful I am for the relief, as I had suffered so much and it seemed that the doctors could do me no good. I got down in weight to 125 pounds, and was not able to work at all. Now I weigh nearly 160 and can do a day's work on the farm. I have recommended your medicines to several, and shall always have a good word to say for Dr. Pierce and his medicines."

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant. A single item of medical knowledge when life is at stake has a value and cost computation. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser has 1008 pages of priceless paragraphs. This great work is sent absolutely free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-bound edition, or 31 stamps for edition in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The officers of the company have not yet been selected.

Mr. W. B. Allen, one of the incorporators, will move to this city with his family from Augusta to reside in the future.

A Boy's Queer Experience.

LAWRENCE JAMES, the exceptionally bright five-year-old son of John James, figured in a queer experience Tuesday night. Living just across the street from the opera house the little fellow begged to go to see "The Passion Play," and was given permission. At 10:30, when Mr. James came home, Lawrence had not returned, so he presumed that he had gone home with W. R. Hukill to spend the night. Mr. James awakened Mr. Hukill at 11 o'clock, but he had not seen Lawrence. He suggested, however, that the child might be asleep at the opera house. Acting on the suggestion Mr. James got the key to the theatre and soon found his missing boy. He was sound asleep, sitting up in one of the balcony chairs. He had escaped the notice of the few people in the balcony because the theatre was dark while the pictures were being shown.

Railroad Reported Sold.

Telegrams from Frankfort state that the Kentucky Midland railroad has been sold by the Home Construction Company to Arland & Co., of Louisville, presumably for the Chesapeake & Ohio or the Southern Railway. The telegram said it was proposed to extend the road from Paris to Mt. Sterling to tap the C. & O. and from Frankfort to Alton, twelve miles, to tap the Southern, and that papers were signed and the transfer would be made May 20th.

It is said that the L. N. made an offer for the road but abandoned the idea when Attorney General Taylor advised that it could not be done, being barred by the constitutional provision preventing the purchase of competing lines.

The road was built in 1887 at a cost of $500,000, and was sold at receiver's sale about a year ago, being bought in by Attila Cox for the bondholders for $160,000.

Confederate Veterans Reunion.

GEN. J. B. GORDON, Commanding United Confederate Veterans, requests that all ex-Confederate soldiers and sailors form local associations in time to attend the grand reunion at Charleston, S. C., May 10, 11, 12 and 13. Business of importance is to be considered at this reunion and a large attendance is desired. Gen. Joe Wheeler will deliver the oration at the opening exercises.

W. C. Rinearson, G. P. A. of the Queen & Crescent, writes A. T. Forsyth, of this city, that tickets will be sold at one fare for the round-trip, the rate being $14.10 from Lexington. Tickets will be sold on May 8, 9 and 10, with final limit to May 21st.

Depredations of Dogs.

GEO. J. BALLARD sold last week 270 ewes to Bourbon county parties, the larger portion of which were sold at $5.25 per head and the other, at $3.50 per head, says the Winchester Sun. There were included with the whole lot of ewes 195 lambs. Mr. Ballard sold the sheep on account of dogs. During the past winter he lost between $150 and $200 worth of sheep killed by dogs. This is the second lot of sheep that has been sold from that neighborhood on account of the depredations of dogs. J. D. Willis had to sell his sheep for the same reason.

Judge Purnell's Sentences.

John Jones, colored, was tried in Judge Purnell's court Tuesday for stealing a small sum of money from Mrs. Shannon's safe, and was sentenced to sixty days at hard labor.

ANNIE WASHINGTON, colored, was found guilty of a breach of the peace, incited by the green eyed monster. She caught her husband buggy riding with another woman and didn't do a thing but drag her out of the buggy and work on her with a broom-stick. Her revenge cost about $14.

A Deplorable Accident.

MONDAY evening while Mrs. June Payne was going into a cellar her heel caught in her skirt and caused her to drop the lamp she was carrying. The burning oil spread on her dress and both of her limbs and her right arm were badly burned before her husband could tear off her clothes. Mr. Payne had both of his hands badly burned. Mrs. Payne, who is a daughter of Judge Purnell, was not quite so well yesterday. The accident happened at their home on the Harrods Creek pike.

Plans Being Prepared.

[Lexington Leader]

Mr. George Horne, the local civil engineer who has been engaged by the City Council of Paris, Ky., to prepare plans and specifications for the reconstruction of the streets of that thriving little city, is busy at work and expects to have them ready for acceptance of the Council at an early date.

Mr. Horne says the gentlemen composing the City Council of Paris are a progressive set of men who are anxious to see their town advance in the march of progress, and are willing to show their enterprise by beginning on what is considered the most important improvements first—and that is good streets. Two sets of plans and specifications will be prepared, one for brick and the other for asphalt, and what is considered the best bid will be accepted. The work of reconstructing these streets is expected to be nearly all completed during the coming summer.

Handsome Pictures and Rocking Chairs Given Away—

If you cannot read this small print at a distance of 14 inches your eyesight is failing and should have immediate attention:

Imperial spectacles and eyeglasses have perfect lenses, always perfectly centered and made of purest material, set in frames of the highest elasticity and consequently of greatest durability, united with the utmost lightness and elegance. When both frames and lenses are scientifically fitted by Dr. C. H. Bowen's system they always give satisfaction for years. You will get poorly adjusted spectacles, or poor, imperfect lenses, and are better off without any glasses than with either of these defects. Buy Imperial spectacles of a reliable, skillful dealer, and they will last longer without change and be cheapest in the end.

We have engaged the services of Dr. C. H. Bowen who will visit our store on the second and last Thursdays of each month and invite all to call and have their eyes examined, for which there is no charge. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

NESTING ARRANGEMENT.

Nests Made of Pails Can Be Taken Out of Doors, Emptied and Cleared in a Moment.

At stores where candy is sold, one can buy for a few cents the light, but large, wooden pails in which broken candy and certain grades of chocolates are shipped from the factory. These pails make excellent hens' nests when hung from two hooks in the manner shown in the cut.

Such nests can be taken out of doors, emptied and cleaned in a moment, and having no corners or open joints, as do boxes, there is no place for vermin to hide about them. This is a special point in favor of the use of such pails as nests, for the ordinary nest is usually a breeding place for these troublesome pests.—Orange Judd Farmer.

AN ENDLESS WARFARE.

The Farmers' Struggle Against Poultry Pests and Injurious Germs Knows No End.

In all lines of live stock husbandry cleanliness is the one great demand. The war against dirt and hence against bacteria and vermin is a war that will know no end. Let no man suppose that he can cleanse his house and pens and trust them to keep clean. The battle must be fought over and over again and the successful poultryman is the determined fighter. The first campaign must be made against lice and mites. Whitewashing the pens is supposed to be a great remedy, and without doubt it is a good one, but it is possible for the pens to be kept clear of lice without the use of lime. We realize the fact that whitewashing has its disadvantages. Not only does the pen soon get to looking very dirty inside, on account of all dirt showing on the white background, but very often the pens become a nuisance in that one cannot step inside them without having the marks remain on his clothes. There are washes that may be used and be quite effective as lime. The man that has a sprayer can use it easily in his chicken house and thoroughly wet all exposed surfaces. All cracks should be obliterated, and this is not a hard thing to do if the poultry raiser has a properly built house. But whether lime or something else be used the work must be carefully followed up. It is even best to repeat the labor frequently, even if there be no signs of the little monsters. Their very minuteness is a tremendous advantage given them by nature, and an advantage that lays upon us the necessity of eternal warfare.—Farmers' Review.

AMONG THE POULTRY.

Provide the sitting hens with dark nests. Table scraps make a good poultry food now.

The Pekin are the handsomest breed of ducks.

Goose eggs require one month for hatching.

Mix the corn meal with milk for the little chickens.

Boiled peas and beans, fed warm, are excellent egg foods.

Geese and ducks should not be picked while laying regularly.

In selecting the sitters be careful to secure those that are gentle.

Small eggs are likely to come from too much fatness of the hens.

The best hatching eggs are those laid in the spring by the mature hens.

One of the easiest ways of keeping a poultry yard clean is to give it a frequent dressing with sand.

It costs about a cent a week up to ten weeks old to feed a chick. Then it should weight two pounds.—St. Louis Republic.

Back-Furrowing Pays.

In plowing clay lands nearly all the advantages of under-draining can be obtained by back-furrowing into narrow beds, and by leaving a strip two or three feet wide between the beds unplowed. It practically does away with the trouble of gullying by heavy rains, as there are two channels instead of one to carry off the water. No perceptible difference in growth for yield or crop can be seen in the dead furrows after being put in with modern improved implements, and there is a saving of four furrows in plowing each land or bed—two in the middle of the bed and two at the dead furrow. The great advantage of back-furrowing over level culture when plowing is done in the fall is that very often crops can be sown several weeks earlier, making a fine crop and a good catch of grass, when later sowing would fail.—Prairie Farmer.

NO LONGER ISOLATED.

Wire-Fence Telephone System Put in Operation by Progressive Western Ranchmen.

The stockmen of Southwestern Kansas and northwestern Texas and Oklahoma are keeping pace with modern improvements and are no longer to be isolated from the rest of the world. A few months ago the ranchmen of Seward county, Kan., met to propose a plan of connecting their ranches by telephone facilities, utilizing the barbed wire fences instead of setting poles and stringing wires. It had been demonstrated that a fence wire worked perfectly for a telephone connection. The scheme was favored by the stockmen, and a local company was formed, with headquarters at Liberal, that being the nearest telegraph point.

Lines have since been constructed and are in operation, extending from Liberal over the whole of Seward, Stevens and Morton counties, Kan., and have reached out into Beaver county, O. T., and Hansford county, Tex. Many of the ranches in this ideal grazing country are situated miles from railroad and telegraph facilities. Some of the owners are compelled to travel 50 miles to reach shipping points. Thus will be quickly seen the great advantage to be derived from this enterprising move. It not only affords them an opportunity to transact business among themselves, but they have arranged to get market quotations daily from the telegraph station. This information is invaluable to the cattle kings.

In addition to the lines now in operation further extensions are to be made. The success of the wire-fence telephone first established between Liberal and Brown ranch on Sharp creek, a distance of ten miles, demonstrated the value of the idea, and another line will be started to Beaver, O. T., and one to Hardesty, Tex.

These extensions will require but little outlay of money, nothing but the labor required where fences can be used. When this cannot be done the surveys follow the streams where the timber is used for poles. This energetic move has awakened a lively interest at the markets. Wichita, which has become a large stock market in recent years by reason of its packing industries, is making an effort to have a branch of the line reach that place. This would put the ranchmen in talking distance with commission firms, to whom they sell stock.

The plan is one of untold advantage to stock owners, and will be pushed until the complete benefits have been derived.

port lever c. A rope d, will be of great assistance. Hook, e, is to slip under gambrel. After hog is scalded on one end, swing round to table f, take hook out of gambrel and stick through lower jaw and scald the other end. Barrel, g, should be kept two-thirds full of water; the one-inch pipe, h, is eight feet long, bent in middle, or two pieces four feet long connected by a six-inch piece with elbows which enter the barrel between the hoops, as shown. Of course the fire boils the water. By my swing I dressed a 300-pound hog alone.—L. L. Glover, in Farm and Home.

Food That Costs Nothing.

During the warmer season, when allowed to forage for themselves, each fowl gathers several ounces of meat daily. When the supply of grasshoppers, bugs, flies and worms fails, it may be furnished from the table, the scrap pot or the market. Green food may be furnished in cabbage, vegetables, apples or cut clover. A warm breakfast should be given on cold days and there should be no lack in the supply of drink. A meat diet with grain and vegetables is essential to the well being of fowls during the cold weather, when worms, bugs and insects are not to be found by the birds, but in summer the fowls can secure such foods for themselves.—American Gardening.

How to Break a Sitter.

When a hen wishes to sit she is usually fat. If you break her she will lay five or six eggs and become broody again. Let her get rid of her fat. Give her one egg, let her stay on the nest two weeks, give her plenty of water, feed only once in two days, and then break her up. She will then have lost flesh and when she begins to lay she will keep it up. If you must break her, however, get a coop with a slat floor, slat sides and open everywhere. Let it be raised a foot from the ground. Place the coop in an exposed location, where she can see everything around her. Being disturbed and not being able to warm her airy nest, she gives up in disgust.—Farm and Fireside.

Swallowed his False Teeth.

A man recently swallowed his false teeth and it drove him mad. Stomachs will stand a great deal, but not everything. If yours is weak try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It cures indigestion, constipation, kidney and liver troubles, as well as malaria and fever and ague. It is particularly effective in all nervous affections, and is strongly recommended at this season of the year when the system is run-down and most susceptible to disease. All druggists keep it.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Suggestions for Spring Cleaning.

Much of the labor of house cleaning may be avoided by the exercise of good judgment and management. Pleasant weather must be selected for the work, usually the first of May is the best time to begin. Every thing should be in readiness beforehand. Brooms, brushes, tacks and strings should be provided. The windows and paint can be cleaned by washing with warm water and Ivory Soap; the free use of lime and borax will purify and deodorize the premises.

AN EXCELLENT COMBINATION

THE pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well-known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company, illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, CLEANSING THE SYSTEM EFFECTUALLY, DISPELLING COLDS AND HEADACHES, PREVENTING FEVERS, OVERCOMING HABITUAL CONSTIPATION PERMANENTLY.

Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, gently yet promptly, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative. In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but by a method known to the California Fig Syrup Company only. In order to get its beneficial effects, and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

Consumers of the choicest products of modern commerce purchase at about the same price that others pay for cheap and worthless imitations. To come into universal demand and to be everywhere considered the best of its class, an article must be capable of satisfying the wants and tastes of the best informed purchasers. The California Fig Syrup Company having met with the highest success in the manufacture and sale of its excellent liquid laxative remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, it has become important to all to have a knowledge of the Company and its product. The California Fig Syrup Company was organized more than fifteen years ago, for the special purpose of manufacturing and selling a laxative remedy which would be more pleasant to the taste and more beneficial in effect than any other known. The great value of the remedy, as a medicinal agent and of the Company's efforts, is attested by the sale of millions of bottles annually, and by the high approval of most eminent physicians. As the true and genuine remedy named SYRUP OF FIGS is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only, the knowledge of that fact will assist in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties.

ALABASTINE

LABASTINE is the original and only durable wall coating, entirely different from all kalsomines. Ready for use in white or twelve beautiful tints by adding cold water.

ADIES naturally prefer ALABASTINE for walls and ceilings, because it is pure, clean, durable. Put up in dry powdered form, in five-pound packages, with full directions.

LL kalsomines are cheap, temporary preparations made from whitening, chalks, clays, etc., and stuck on walls with degrading animal glue. ALABASTINE is not a kalsomine.

BEWARE of the dealer who says he can sell you the "same thing" as ALABASTINE or "something just as good." He is either not posted or is trying to deceive you.

ND IN OFFERING something he has bought cheap and tries to sell on ALABASTINE's demands, he may not realize the damage you will suffer by a kalsomine on your walls.

ENSIBLE dealers will not buy a lawsuit. Dealers risk one by selling and consumers by using inferiorment. ALABASTINE Co. own right to make wall coating to mix with cold water.

HE INTERIOR WALLS of every schoolhouse should be coated only with pure, durable ALABASTINE. It safeguards health. Hundreds of tons are used annually for this work.

N BUYING ALABASTINE, see that packages are properly labeled. Beware of large four-pound package light kalsomine, offered to customers as a five-pound package.

URANCE of wall paper is obviated by ALABASTINE. It can be used on plastered walls, wood ceilings, brick or canvas. A child can brush it on. It does not rub or scale off.

ESTABLISHED in favor. Shun all imitations. Ask paint dealer or druggist for tint card. Write for "Alabastine Era," free, to ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Michigan.

RUNNING SORE ON HIS ANKLE.

After Six Years of Intense Suffering, Promptly Cured

By S. S. S. entire circulation is in a depraved condition. They are a severe drain upon the system, and are constantly sapping away the vitality. In every case the poison must be eliminated from the blood, and no amount of external treatment can have any effect.

There is no uncertainty about the merits of S. S. S.; every claim made for it is backed up strongly by convincing testimony of those who have been cured by it and know of its virtues by experience.

Mr. L. J. Clark, of Orange Courthouse, Va., writes:

"For six years I had an obstinate, running ulcer on my ankle, which at times caused me intense suffering. I was disabled for a long while that I was wholly unfit for business. One of the best doctors treated me constantly but did me no good. I then tried various blood remedies, without the least benefit. S. S. S. was so highly recommended that I concluded to try it, and the effect was wonderful. It seemed to get right at the seat of the disease and force the poison out, and I was soon completely cured." Swift's Specific—

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD

—drives out every trace of impurity in the blood, and in this way cures permanently the most obstinate, deep-seated sore or ulcer. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed purely vegetable, and contains not a particle of potash, mercury, or other mineral. S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison, Scrofula, Cancer, Catarrh, Eczema, Rheumatism, Sores, Ulcers, Boils, or any other blood trouble. Insist upon S. S. S.; nothing can take its place.
